Experience

Heptágono Consultoria

Junior Developer

Remote

Apr 2022 – Apr 2026

- Maintained a WhatsApp-based customer service application for a B2B client using Node.js, focused on invoice issuance, debt negotiation, customer support, and service upselling across high-volume service flows.
- Debugged and continuously improved application workflows; in the first year, optimized recognition and categorization for 90% of interactions, reducing manual support volume from over 10,000 to fewer than 1,000 messages.
- Contributed to support queue organization, demand refinement, and the evolution of closed-session analysis using AI, increasing delivery predictability and reducing unhandled edge cases.
- Partnered with cross-functional teams to review operational pain points, refine service rules, and improve the overall reliability and clarity of automated customer journeys.
- Supported the maintenance of an internal web application built with React, Node.js, TypeScript, and PostgreSQL to consolidate company campaign data into weekly categorized reports with CSV export functionality.
